Carry Bear Pepper Spray and Know How To Use It!

- Hunting puts you at risk of encountering a bear. Calling game and using scents may attract bears.
- If you hunt alone, let someone know about your plans. If you feel uneasy hunting alone, hunt with a partner.
- Pay attention to fresh bear sign. Communicate with others and let them know when bears have been seen and/or fresh sign observed.
- Some bears may move in the direction of a gunshot because they learned to associate the sound with a gut pile or carcass.
- The golden rule is "get the game animal out of the area as quickly as possible." The longer a carcass remains lying on the ground, hung up in camp, or stored in the back of a truck, the more likely it will be discovered by a bear.
- Carcasses left for a period of time require special care. Carry a colored, lightweight tarp or space blanket. Put the guts on the tarp and drag them a few hundred feet away from the carcass. Locate an observation point 200 yards (if possible) away from the carcass with a clear line of sight.
- When returning, approach the observation point carefully. Yell or whistle repeatedly. With binoculars study the scene from the observation point and scan the area for the carcass and any movement. If a bear is at the site and refuses to leave or the meat has been covered up with debris by a bear, report the incident to FWP.
- Do not attempt to frighten away or haze a bear, especially a grizzly.
- Bears are opportunists and change their behavior to take advantage of new food sources. Always assume that grizzlies are in the area and make sure your camps, cabins, and homes are bear proof, and that bear attractants are unavailable or contained.
- Carry bear pepper spray. Keep the spray within reach and know how to use it. In sudden grizzly encounters pepper spray has proven effective. Bears sprayed in the face at close range often stop attacking.
- Mentally rehearse a worst-case scenario with encountering a bear. "If the mind has never been there before, the body does not know how to respond."
- As a last resort, if attacked, play dead. Lie face down, covering your neck and head with your hands and arms. If you have a backpack leave it on to protect your back. Stay face down, never look at the bear and remain still until the bear is gone. Many people survive bear attacks using this method.
- Report encounters with Grizzly Bears to FWP at 1-800-TIP-MONT, U.S. Forest Service or one of the nearest FWP bear management specialist listed below:
 - Mike Madel Choteau, MT 406-466-5100
 - Tim Manley Kalispell, MT 406-751-4584
 - Kevin Frey Bozeman, MT 406-994-3553
 - James Jonkel Missoula, MT 406-542-5508
- In an actual emergency, contact 911. Seeing a grizzly is not necessarily a reportable encounter or an emergency. Report encounters where the bear displayed aggressive or defensive behavior toward people, livestock or pets.

Montana is Bear Country

Be Bear Aware!

Hunters must be able to tell the difference between a grizzly and a black bear because grizzly bears cannot be legally hunted in Montana.

1. Learn how to identify bears.
2. Be absolutely sure of your target.
3. If in doubt, don't shoot.

Look for a combination of characteristics.

Mandatory bear identification testing is required to purchase a black bear license. Check FWP's website: fwp.mt.gov

Annual HUNTING & HARVEST Survey

"We're counting on you!"

For over 20 years, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks has conducted an annual telephone survey to gather hunting and harvest information for Montana game species. The survey begins in mid January and continues into March.

Telephone interviewers located across the state call from their homes mid-week evenings and weekends to speak to hunters one-on-one to get the most accurate information possible. Results from the statewide survey are used by wildlife managers to evaluate hunting seasons and to set permit quotas, season dates and other regulations.

So when your phone rings in the coming months, you might not recognize the name on Caller ID but it could be a friendly Fish, Wildlife and Parks interviewer hoping to visit with you about your hunting!

Stay Informed.
